

Case: Constipation, 5yo, Male

The Person & Complaint

This is a delightful smiley 5 year old boy. He is a survivor of twin to twin transfer. He has been constipated from the day his was born.

He has:

- Aspergers.
- Daily Movalex to go to the toilet.
- 5 years constipation compliant.

The Story & Emotions

The story began when this little boy was a 9 week foetus with his twin brother. His mums pregnancy was diagnosed with twin to twin transfer syndrome. Medical staff encouraged his mum to consider termination as the twins only had 5% chance of survival.

At 16 weeks gestation they underwent twin to twin transfer laser surgery.

This little boy was a stuck twin this meant that he was expected to die, sacrificing one twin to save the other. This would give his twin brother a much better chance to live post laser surgery.

In the procedure the Doctors separated and cut off his blood supply that he shared with his twin brother. This left him with reduced blood vessels and little chance of survival.

His mum was constantly in fear for the lives of her babies as she was closely monitored daily and the future of her twins would vary with every conversation she had with the Doctors. After 72 hour there was a slim ray of hope that miraculously he may live. Medical professionals warned that her twin boys may have severe disabilities.

With the constant daily challenges, I believe that his mums fear of losing her babies had inadvertently entrained her fear with his base chakra. Couple that with primal instinct of survival fear and that is a recipe for severe constipation.

I treated his mother first for colonic inertia. When that was successful I then treated her son. It is said that when treating a child, you need to treat the mother first. I think this is a classic example of the sun affecting her moons with her gravitational force.

The Energetic System

- The Kidneys were under considerably strain. This was evident through the lack of amniotic fluid in the sac. This is characteristic of a stuck twin.
- The Kidneys were unable to eliminate the overwhelming emotion of survival fear that was being held at Malkuth
- Energy centre Hod was block through the influence fear.
- Energy centre Malkuth was blocked by survival fear and entrainment from his mother.
- BL 57 and K 3 are used for difficult defecation.

Treatment – first session

- Opened Hod to Malkuth, it didnt take long for them to start talking. The energy was good expansive.
- Opened BL 57 and K 3, both points opened relatively quickly.
- Tummy rub in a clockwise direction with a Cylinder of light

Recommended tummy rubbing in a clockwise direction if he is having trouble going to the toilet as this will get things moving.

Result/ How it was resolved

This little boy is no longer constipated. He is able to go to the toilet every day without the help of Movalax.

He is an active, regular 5 year old and very happy.
