

Case 5 DY age 60 2014 Rib fractures/pain

He returned to see me 9 months later . He had made lifestyle improvements. This time he had fallen whilst jogging and sustained hairline and displaced fractures to two ribs underlying his left shoulder blade at level of T 5 (UB 15) He is suffering a considerable amount of discomfort and tenderness 8-9/10 over the area in particular when coughing or turning his body . He is unable to work due to the pain and restriction of movement .

I questioned him about a possible emotional component to his injury and he told me he is again having repetitive quarrels with his wife which has brought his attention to the back of his heart.

Tx w resonance opened SI channel on hand and BL and GB of foot and did direct resonance over the injury w one hand and over shentao w other hand . As well as this I opened the pillar of severity which contained his previously injury stroke at the level of binah

He experienced amazing amount of improvement after one session And again after the next session and a week later after another session he was able to work as well as go jogging again. His emotional state is more balanced he feels less troubled by his wife
